Conservative Council in Downing Street Weakens With Continuance of Outrages in Ireland.

(By Associated Press.) DUBLIN, June 3.—The national shell factory, which was established during the war for the manufacture of ammunition for the British army, was set on fire at 6:30 o'clock this evening. Shortly afterwards the building was blazing fiercely.

The manufacture of shells on the premises had been discontinued for some time, but inside the building were large quantities of military stores and automobiles.

The factory adjoined the military park, and the gate was strongly guarded.

Late tonight Dublin castle announced that owing to the efficiency of the fire brigade and the assistance rendered by the troops, the fire eventually was overcome.

A quantity of stores was destroyed by fire, but the repair shops were saved.

Chance Shot Kills Woman.

While a skirmish match was in progress on the Trinity College grounds this evening six pistol shots were fired from Nassau Street, which skirts the grounds. Miss Katherine Wright, a spectator, was shot in the breast and killed.

The eighteen auxiliary cadets charged with looting in Athlone on February 8, whose trial opened here on Saturday last, were acquitted by the court-martial hearing the trial today.

Four of the men, however, are being held for trial in connection with the charge arising from a skirmish between the others who were released.

SIX SHOT IN Ambush.

British Inspector Stephenson, a police sergeant, and four constables were killed, and four others seriously wounded when a police patrol was ambushed by an armed mob at Carrowkennedy, near here, last night. Arms and ammunition carried by the police were taken, and three motor cars in which the officers were riding were burned.

When the police were attacked they replied with rifles and machine gun fire. The fight lasted several hours, but in the end the police lost all their arms, including their machine gun, one revolver, one shotgun, and a pistol. The remainder of what had occurred, and medical assistance and reinforcements were then dispatched. Two of the wounded men are not expected to recover. The patrol had gone out to fill up, with commandeered labor, a trench which had been dug across the road to the railway station, and when the party had passed through small hills, the party was attacked by the civilians, who had taken up a position behind walls that had been loopholed. Six of the constables took cover in a house, where they continued fighting until their ammunition was exhausted.

At Ballitore, County Kildare, yesterday it was believed to have numbered half a dozen armed men fired a police motor car. The crown forces replied, killing two of the offenders.

In County Tyrone, a bridge across the River Swilly was demolished by expeditors. The body of a youth with the neck broken, was found in the debris. It is believed the charge exploded prematurely.

ENGLAND'S KING AND QUEEN WILL ATTEND TRADE UNION MEET

Set Precedent Which Was Considered Impossible Only Five Years Ago.

(By United News.) LONDON, June 3.—The increasing activity of the Irish Republican army and a rekindling of Sinn Fein violence is strengthening the government's resolve to put its iron-hand policy into effect throughout Southern Ireland the moment it has been definitely shown that the Dail plenum has decided to obstruct the working of the home rule bill.

If members of the new Parliament refuse to take the oath of allegiance, or to co-operate in making home rule effective, the troops will be poured into the country, and all judgment will be left under the most stringent martial law.

It is learned authoritatively that powing Street is "at the end of the rope," and that all conservative counsel has been weakened by recent events in Ireland.

The total casualty list in the Irish conflict, June 1, shows that 110 government troops have been killed and 825 wounded. At the same time it is semi-officially announced that approximately thirty-five Sinn Feiners were killed or perished on the day the Dublin customs-house was burned.

Senator Harrison Declares Confederate Constitution Model for Enforcing Economy.

(By Associated Press.) MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 3.—The first White House of the Confederacy, one of the most precious shrines of "The Lost Cause," was dedicated here today by the Sons and Daughters of Dixie.

Men who followed Lee and Jackson, Johnston, Forrest, Stuart, and other great generals of the Confederacy were the most prominent of survivors who gathered here from all the States of the South and from many of the other States of the Union to take part in the dedicatory exercises. Veterans of the Spanish-American War and the world war, Daughters of the Confederacy, the Confederate States Memorial Association, civic and other organizations participating in the parade to the State Capitol, where Jefferson Davis took the oath of office as President of the Confederacy.

The exercises incidental to the celebration of President Davis' birthday were held within the shadow of the Davis Monument, on Mountain Avenue, yesterday afternoon, a程序 under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Grandchildren of the Confederacy, many of whom graced the occasion with their presence. In the group gathered about the monument upon the most perfect of afternoons, with the beautiful blue of the cloudless sky and the sheen of the golden sunset forming a picture which no artist could paint, were representatives of several generations of the old Southern families, in whose bosom memories of long ago were revived as the outcrop spoils of the life and achievements of the great leaders.

Amendment of the Federal Constitution to embody some of the principles set forth in the Constitution of the Confederate States would bring many needed reforms, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, declared here tonight at the concluding ceremonies.

The enemy vessels to be destroyed by aircraft and gunfire include the U-115, U-116, UB-18, U-111, the destroyers S-102, S-103, V-43, the cruiser Frankfurt and the battleship Ostfriesland.

The former German craft will be brought to the firing point and anchored in position about fifty miles east of Cape Charles light vessel, in not less than fifty fathoms of water. If more than one salvo of a type to be bombed in the same vicinity, the submarine or destroyer to be bombed will be distinguished by red, white and blue circles on the deck to our gun.

ENGINEERS DISCUSS WASTE PREVENTION IN U. S. INDUSTRIES

Hill Montague Pays Eloquent Tribute to Jefferson Davis at Birthday Exercises.

Declarer that he was not a part, but was an ardent believer in States' rights and always held under the Constitution each State had a right to withdraw from the Union. Hill Montague paid tribute yesterday to the memory of Jefferson Davis, the only President of the Southern Confederacy.

The exercises incidental to the celebration of President Davis' birthday were held within the shadow of the Davis Monument, on Mountain Avenue, yesterday afternoon, a程序 under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Grandchildren of the Confederacy, many of whom graced the occasion with their presence.

In the group gathered about the monument upon the most perfect of afternoons, with the beautiful blue of the cloudless sky and the sheen of the golden sunset forming a picture which no artist could paint, were representatives of several generations of the old Southern families, in whose bosom memories of long ago were revived as the outcrop spoils of the life and achievements of the great leaders.

The report of the Hoover committee for the elimination of waste in industry was before the executive board of the American Engineering Society. This report contains startling figures on the tremendous economic and financial waste in the country.

Amendment of the Federal Constitution to embody some of the principles set forth in the Constitution of the Confederate States would bring many needed reforms, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, declared here tonight at the concluding exercises.

The enemies to be destroyed by aircraft and gunfire include the U-115, U-116, UB-18, U-111, the destroyers S-102, S-103, V-43, the cruiser Frankfurt and the battleship Ostfriesland.
